

From: Mark Stewart <mark@tennishockey.com>
Subject: Goodfellas: It's been a (good) year, fellas

Date: October 6, 2003 11:14:47 PM PDT

To: David Watkins <dwatkins@u.washington.edu>, "Andrew Beane" <andrewbeane@hotmail.com>, John Meier <le_zaphod@yahoo.com>, Scott Lemieux <slemieux@u.washington.edu>, Don Simpson <don_simp@hotmail.com>, farls@u.washington.edu, "Jason F. Lambacher" <jlambach@u.washington.edu>, "J. Dudas" <jdudas@u.washington.edu>

Cc: Peter Martin <mistermartin9@yahoo.com>, mark@tennishockey.com

Hey,

Watch that Red Sox - A's game tonight? Man, what a series! Who are the last two people the A's would want batting in the bottom of the 9th, runners in scoring position, down by a run. My guess would be Adam Melhuse and Terence (I watch strike 3 go by) Long....

Anyway, as the holder of the purse I wanted to offer a some very mad props to David (1st place, but man, must have been boring being so far up), Scott (2nd place, damn you, so close!) and Don (being in last place at the All-Star break puts you in the driver's seat for Most Improved, I guess).

We had $270 in the pot (everyone but Peter) -- $180 to David, $45 each to Scott and Don. I gave David his money the other night -- Scott, Don, how would you like me to get it to you?

So if memory serves me, five different winners in five years, not bad:

1999: Mark
2000: Andy Camp
2001: Scott
2002: Andrew B.
2003: David

mark